

Game Instructions:

This is a 2 player game where you try to shoot the other person until they run out of health. The person on the left side of the keyboard uses the keys WASD to move and the left control button to shoot. The person on the right side uses the arrow keys to move and the right control button to shoot. When you begin the screen will look like:

The person on the left will shoot yellow bullets and the person on the right will shoot red bullets. When one gets hit with a bullet their health will decrease and will look something like this:

When one person runs out of lives the screen will look something like this:

Then the game will restart and you can play again!
